

Where is Mister Potato?

Adapted by Harvey D'Souza

Narrator: Once upon a time there lived an old woman. One day she went to pick beans. She found Mister Potato.

Old woman: Mister Potato! Delicious! I can make potato soup!

Narrator: The old woman took Mister Potato home with her. When she went to bed she put Mister Potato under her pillow. That night the wind began to moan and groan. Far away she heard a voice crying.

Ghost: Where is Mister Potato?
Who's got Mister Potato?

Narrator: The woman hid under the bed covers. The wind howled and shook the house. The woman heard the voice again.

Ghost: Where is Mister Potato?
Who's got Mister Potato?

Narrator: The woman hid further under the bed covers. The door of her room creaked as if someone was trying to get in. The woman heard the voice again.

Ghost: Where is Mister Potato?
Who's got Mister Potato?

Narrator: The woman was terrified. The voices were whispering and growling very close to her now.

Ghost: Where is Mister Potato?
Who's got Mister Potato?

Woman (throwing Mister Potato at the ghosts): Take it! Leave me alone! Please!

(The ghosts take Mister Potato and go away, laughing.....)

THE END

